GRAZ, LINZ

We work for tomorrow - this motto guides the students and scientists at the University of Graz: They look to the future, take on challenges and develop solutions for the world of tomorrow. Climate researcher Gottfried Kirchengast played a decisive role in developing the claim: "We work for tomorrow" reflects the future-oriented, proactive, forward-looking nature of our critical thinking and work. It emphasizes the will of researchers to proactively help shape the prosperous development of our society, economy and environment with our findings and their communication."

En 1218, Alfonso IX de León fundó las 'scholas Salamanticae', precursoras de la actual Universidad de Salamanca con más de 800 años de historia. Alfonso IX, un hombre avanzado a su tiempo, no solo creó la universidad, sino que también permitió la participación de diversos sectores en las primeras Cortes. Según el decreto de 1254, la universidad contaba con diversos maestros y personal.

La Universidad de Salamanca, junto con París, Oxford y Bolonia, es una de las primeras universidades europeas y la única española que ha mantenido su actividad a lo largo de los siglos.

Y eso se nota en el ambiente que se vive en nuestras aulas y en nuestros campus.

Es posible que te hayan dicho que en el CEU el estudiante es lo central. Y no se equivocan, así es.

Por ello, a la preparación de nuestros alumnos y alumnas como profesionales y como personas dedicamos nuestros esfuerzos todos los que formamos parte de esta comunidad universitaria. Y, además, lo hacemos de una forma personal, a la medida de lo que necesita cada uno de nuestros estudiantes.”

BUDAPEST

The predecessor of Eötvös Loránd University (ELTE) was founded in the rural town of Nagyszombat (today: Trnava, Slovakia) in 1635 by Cardinal Péter Pázmány, as a catholic university for teaching Theology and Philosophy. In 1770-1780, the University was transferred to Buda and later to Pest, and with the support of Maria Theresa, the Empress of Austria and Queen of Hungary, became the Royal Hungarian University.

Over the following decades, new faculties were established to meet the expectations of a learned society. In the second half of the 19th century, the University developed into a centre of modern higher education in today's sense, covering nearly every scholarly field.

A large Italian flag (green, white, and red vertical stripes) is flying from a tall, dark red flagpole on the left side of the frame. The background features a historic building with a large, light-colored dome and classical architectural details. To the right, there are several multi-story buildings with yellow and orange facades, typical of Italian urban architecture. The sky is a clear, bright blue with a few wispy white clouds.
